HAPPY BIRTHDAY MAMA

It's your birthday, and I know of nothing to buy you that will show you how much you are loved and appreciated.

I don't quite know where in my life I realized that you did everything right as a mother, but it is very clear to me now that I want to do the samething for my children.

It's important that a child feels not only that he is loved, but also that he is wanted and cared for. You worked 8 hours rotating shift most of my life, yet I missed nothing, I always felt the love, the care, and even the hurt on things you felt we missed out on, but those didn't matter because we "The Family" always had each other. We know how to do what most families can't and that is laugh and joke and have a rightous good time. We have closed the major generation gaps, we can communicate. I know it was difficult for you to change your attitudes as we grew from children to teenagers, to adults but you did so in a fashion in which everything went smoothly.

What I have been trying to say is thank you for being our mother and being you. Thank you for making available the knowledge of your age and for understanding ours.

I will love you forever
Happy Birthday
Linda
